LONDON, June 28.—The Red Army stormed and captured the great White Russian base of Mogilev today in a smash across the Upper Dnieper river which pierced the German defence belt along its west bank—the second Nazi defence line cracked by the Soviet offensive in six days.

Premier Josef Stalin issued a special order of the day announcing the capture of Mogilev and reporting that Col.-Gen. Georgi Zakharov's second army of White Russia had secured the Dnieper

Bill Is Debated

Social Security Measures

To Have Utmost Support Of Government, Opposition

By FRANK FLAHERTY

OTTAWA, June 28.—(CP)—Leaders of the government and official opposition in the Commons yesterday pledged their support to the advancement of human welfare in Canada through measures of social security. In moving second reading of his bill to establish a department of national health and welfare, Prime Minister Mackenzie King said:

"The time has come when it should be the obligation of some minister of the crown to be especially concerned with matters that relate to human wellbeing and human welfare, whether they have been thought of in connection with provincial legislation in the past or whether both provinces and the Dominion have been concerned. Personality is much more important than property and human wellbeing than material wealth."

In giving general support to the measure, Gordon Graydon, Progressive-Conservative house leader, said:

GRAYDON VIEWS

"I want to range myself and this party in support of the advancement of human wellbeing and our society. I think these matters can be attacked too greatly."

Debate on the bill was interrupted while the House gave second and third readings to bills extending the charter of the Bank of Canada and the savings bank until Sept. 1.

The savings bank bill and general legislation providing for the renewal is under study before the House banking committee. Mr. King said Canada had made great gains in social welfare, some provincial and some federal. The government's aim was to link them into an integrated national system and, with additional measures such as health insurance, family allowances and a contributory and more generous old age pension scheme, move towards the general goal of universal security for all Canadians naturally shared with the provinces.

NEED ASSISTANCE

It has become clear," he said, "that without more assistance and co-operation from the federal government, the provincial governments will not be able to work out anything in the nature of a national scheme."

"Nothing could be more important to a nation-wide plan than to leave to mere chance the conditions as they arise the enactment from time to time by the provinces of different measures which they may regard as being necessary."

"There is a necessity for some central agency that can be helpful in co-operation with the provinces, in preventing duplication and overlapping and seeing when one province is behind another in some important enactment that that difficulty may be overcome."

CONSTANT CO-OPERATION

It was not the intention to invade provincial jurisdiction. The provinces would be consulted on national schemes and there would be conferences and co-operation both before and after the reaching of agreements.

At a start the new department will take over the health branch from the present department of pensions and health while the pensions and rehabilitation branch go to another proposed new department of veterans affairs.

The new department would also take over the old-age and blind pensions administration from the finance department and will administer family allowances when they come into effect. Later on, as such schemes are approved, it will handle health insurance and contributory pensions.

Legislation would not be forced on the provinces, but the new department would seek to bring out advantages of co-ordination of effort in improving conditions of the people.

NOT HIT, MISS PLAN

Mr. Graydon urged the closest co-operation with provinces and municipalities in social welfare legislation. There should be a broad national scheme taking these bodies into its framework and not some hit or miss plan.

He would have preferred to have more consultation before the present bill was brought forward, but the measure was a step in the right direction.

URGES HEALTH BILL

Mr. Cora Casselman (L-Edmonton East), a member of the social security committee now studying health insurance, said she hoped a health insurance bill would be introduced this session.

Dr. F. W. Genshew (L-Medicine Hat) said social security proposals did not provide care for the disabled.

PRIVATE BREGER ABROAD

Mr. Breger, a member of the social security committee, said he had been abroad for some time.

He would have preferred to have more consultation before the present bill was brought forward, but the measure was a step in the right direction.

4 More Nazi Planes Fall To Canuck Sharpshooters

By PO. STANLEY HELLER

A CANADIAN AIRFIELD IN FRANCE, June 28.—(CP)—Four more ME109's fell yesterday to sharpshooters of Squadron Leader Dal Russell's Canadian Spitfire squadron over France. Flt. Lt. Harry Dowding, D.F.C., Sarnia, Ont., and FO. Stan McClary, Winnipeg, each destroyed two.

The squadron, now part of the Canadian wing of the Royal Canadian Air Force, was based at a small airfield near the town of Angoulême. The squadron was formed in 1943 and has since then been active in the fight against the Luftwaffe.

"I guess I wasn't much more than 30 yards away from him when he flew up," McClary said. "I saw the fire and I knew I was in for it. I was a little too close for comfort."

Steady Progress

Is Made in Italy

Nazis Romping on Beaches

Of Biscay Bay Due for Shock

By DOUGLAS AMARON

LONDON, July 28.—(CP)—Steady progress in the face of stiffening resistance is being made in Italy where Italian soldiers of the 5th and 8th armies are driving forward along a front reaching from the Tyrrhenian to the Adriatic.

Confidence that the new German Hitler line will be smashed more readily and with fewer casualties than the Guttav and Hitler lines of the Liri Valley and the Liri Valley was broken last Thursday. The Germans are fighting a stiffer and more determined battle since the fall of Rome, but they lack both men and materials to sustain a long-term offensive.

Most Canadians of the 8th were resting when I left Italy. Shock troops of the 5th and 8th were the first to go. They felt that when the going gets tough they will return to action.

"We will turn the tables soon," the Germans boasted.

LONG WAY FROM WAR

The German garrisons in this vicinity are a long way from war. I could see many of them—battered and high spirited—playing on the beach. I could also see a camouflaged emplacement, a pillbox disguised as cottages. Unarmed men were laboring on still more fortification. Even though the chance of an Allied invasion this far south on the Bay of Biscay seems remote.

Newspapers arriving from France today merely said that fighting around Cherbourg was extremely heavy.

Many of German soldiers were permitted to cross the international border by bicycle. They returned laden with oranges, bananas, sardines, chocolate and bottles of wine.

Border guards informed me that not a single non-German had been legally during the past eight days. Reports said the Germans had now seized between 30 and 40 per cent of French labor manpower for slave labor in Germany and elsewhere.

SABOTAGE INCREASES

French underground sabotage was reported increasing. Almost total paralysis of transportation was said to have resulted and the city government was sorely tried to disperse medical supplies.

Resistance against Joseph Darnaud, Vichy militia was said to have caused a proclamation that the militia were not a police force but a revolutionary movement in the service of Marshal Petain and his government.

Nazis Romping on Beaches

Of Biscay Bay Due for Shock

Seven-Mile Gain

Made by Tommies

By WILLIAM STEWART

WITH BRITISH FORCES IN FRANCE, June 28.—(CP)—The British attack west of Caen threatened the river Ordon last night 30 hours after it started. The British troops advanced in the face of a concentration of German artillery and mortar fire and reached the north bank of the river, which flows into the Caen estuary, after fighting their way across both the railway line and the highway running from Villers-Bocage to Caen.

The Tommies have gained some seven miles on a narrow front since Monday morning.

Except for artillery action, the Canadian front remained quiet. During the day the British troops fought in the town of Grainville and then in and around Montreuil and Tourville.

There were more than 28,800 passenger cars in use at the time of the attack. Two years later, approximately 35,000 cars.

British, U.S. Losses Announced

2,815 Canadians Dead, Wounded, Missing
In First 15 Days of European Invasion

OTTAWA, June 28.—(CP)—Canadian casualties in the first 15 days of the invasion of France totalled 2,815, it was announced today by defence headquarters. There were 363 killed, 1,359 wounded and 1,093 missing.

Canadian casualties were announced simultaneously with those of the United Kingdom and the United States. The total for the three countries was given as 40,549 and this included 13,572 for the United Kingdom and 24,182 for the United States.

BRITISH CASUALTIES
British casualties comprised 1,842 killed, 8,599 wounded and 3,131 missing, while the United States total was made up of 5,082 killed, 12,121 wounded and 7,959 missing.

The Canadian casualty statement contained no comment, but last week in the Commons Defence Minister Ralston said casualties had been "moderate" and below the total number estimate for the initial phase of the operation. He described this report as "gratifying."

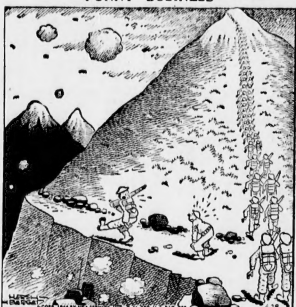

The only Canadian division identified so far in France has been the 3rd Division under Maj. Gen. R. F. I. Keller of Kelowna, B.C., and Canadian paratroopers. However, there are probably other Canadian forces in the action and the United States-British units identified do not necessarily complete the total make-up of the force. The Canadians participated in the seizure of Bayeux and the hard fighting around Caen.

BRITISH FORMATIONS

British troops mentioned in front-line dispatches have been the famous 8th Northumbrian infantry division, the 7th Division, known as the "Desert Rats," and the 6th air-borne division.

American units identified have been the 1st, 2nd, 4th, 9th, 29th and 79th Infantry and the 82nd and 101st airborne divisions. Yesterday defence headquarters here announced casualties for the nine months of the Italian campaign up to the fall of Rome. June 4, totalled 11,340 made up of 2,268 killed, 6,571 wounded and 500 missing and prisoners of war. Using these figures as a comparison, when Canada suffered 3,384 casualties, an army spokesman said Canadians, who pioneered mass invasion tactics at Dieppe, suffered possibly more heavily than any Canadian force since.

And his statement seemed borne out for the French figures covered a 15-day period compared to the dawn-to-dusk encounter at Dieppe.

Mediterranean Army Losses To June 4th

By The Canadian Press
Following are official Canadian Army casualties in the Mediterranean up to the fall of Rome June 4 (total, killed, wounded and missing-prisoner in that order):

Total Kill, Wd. M.P.
Sicily 2,219 475 1,811 350
Italy 11,380 2,268 5,375 500
Total 13,779 2,743 10,386 450

The army spokesman made his statement before the French casualties were given and he said he doubted if any day's casualty total in France would exceed the Dieppe figure.

Other short campaigns which have taken a toll of Canadian arms have been the two-week Hong Kong stand where the Dominion suffered 1,885 in dead and prisoners and the four-week Sicilian campaign which resulted in 2,429 casualties.

Figures for the Mediterranean fighting showed a total for the four-month period from Feb. 12 to the fall of Rome, of 5,375 compared with 5,806 in the five-month period from the start of the Italian invasion Sept. 3 to Feb. 12. The most recent compilation of army casualties made by the War-time Information Board covered the period up to April 26 and showed a total of 18,290 comprising 5,132 dead, 381 missing, 8,225 wounded and 4,551 prisoners.

On June 17, Lt. Gen. Omar Bradley, United States field commander, announced the American casualties for the first 11 days of fighting as 2,263 killed and 12,000 wounded. He said that at the central beach-head where the 1st Division and elements of the 29th Division landed had run higher than anticipated while casualties in the peninsula area to the west had been lower than anticipated.

Later War-time Information Board figures said that Gen. Bradley's army had not been final.

Predicts C.C.F.

Sweep in West

PETERBOROUGH, Ont., June 28.—(CP)—E. B. Joffe, Ontario C.C.F. leader, said last night the C.C.F. was preparing to win the coming federal election and "fully expects to sweep the west and take a great many constituencies in central Canada and the Maritimes."

Making his first address since returning from Saskatchewan where his party scored a decisive victory in a provincial election, Mr. Joffe said the win in that province was an indication of things to come.

Stating that the soldier vote in Saskatchewan was two to one in favor of the C.C.F., he said the men in the services were giving their support to the C.C.F. in increasing numbers because of the deep concern for themselves and their families and because they saw clearly that the old parties were pledged to the same system of so-called free enterprise.

C.C.F. Candidate Asks For Recount

REGINA, June 28.—(CP)—Application for a recount in the Saskatchewan election results in Canning constituency has been made by Mrs. Gladys Strum, C.C.F. candidate. Premier W. J. Patterson won the seat on the first count by a plurality of only six votes.

Premier Patterson said Tuesday that he will officially step out of office on July 10. On that date the C.C.F. cabinet will be sworn in.

Premier-Elect T. C. Douglas will announce his cabinet on July 6, according to Alderman C. M. Fines, president of the Saskatchewan C. C. F. section. Mr. Fines was successful C.C.F. candidate in Regina.

Red loves a salad...

WITH HOT SOUP FOR A STARTER!

Is there a hard-working man with a lively appetite in your family? Serve delicious Campbell's Chicken Noodle Soup and just watch him sail into the meal! Men love the honest chicken goodness of Campbell's that comes from using plump chickens, simmered over so slowly to bring out the deep, rich flavor of the golden broth.

That's the way chicken noodle was made in the old days—and the way Campbell's make it today, adding tender pieces of chicken and plenty of good egg noodles for every bowlful.

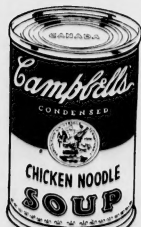

Yes, Campbell's Chicken Noodle Soup is a hearty favorite with the men folks and a tempting treat for the rest of the family, too. That's why so many women build light summer meals around this substantial "starter". You can fix it in a jiffy—and it adds just the satisfying nourishment you need in cold lunches and suppers.

Enjoy it at the very next meal. Your grocer has plenty in stock. Look for the familiar Red-and-White Label.
